FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR NO. 21.

CEDARVILLE, OHIO, FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1931.

PRICE, $1.50 A YEAR

NEWS LETTER FROM STATE DEPARTMENTS

COLUMBUS—According to figures compiled in the office of Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown, the number of motorcycles in Ohio, exclusive of those publicly owned, has decreased steadily for the past ten years. In 1920 Ohio had 21,500 motorcycles, while in 1930 only 6,836 were licensed to operate on Ohio roads. The greatest decrease came in the year of 1921 when 4,097 less motorcycles were licensed than in 1920. Motorcycle side cars decreased nearly one half in the last four years. In 1930 there were only 1,491 left in the state and in that year eight counties failed to register a single side car, while six others could muster only one each.

The state house park has been vastly improved in appearance by the sodding of barren spots, especially along the walks extending from the entrances to the Capitol building. The sodding also provided means of furnishing spending money for a number of enterprising youths, who nightly can be found with flash-lights gathering night-crawlers, which they sell to the boys placidly inclined. Some of the boys succeeded in finding over a gallon each of the wiggling, crawling angleworms.

A number of improvements are being made at Lake resorts owned and controlled by the state. Much dredging has been taking place at Buckeye and Indian Lakes since the close of parks last fall. Under the supervision of state board of Public Works, channels have been deepened and widened, retaining walls strengthened and sanitation improved. When the parks open for the summer season there will be many noticeable improvements.

Director of Highways O. W. Merrill will conduct contract lettings for proposed highway improvements totaling $400,000 on April 28 and 29. This means approximately 50 miles of improved roads, giving work to a large number of unemployed.

James C. H. Ellsbrough, of the Warren road, 7,855 miles in Seneca county on the Tiffin-New Haven road, 6,754 miles in Geauga county on the Chagrin Falls-Greenville road, 6,400 miles in Shelby county, 4,094 miles in Fayette county, 5,854 miles on the Ohio River road in Clermont county and lesser mileage in a number of other counties.

There have been 1,420 cases of smallpox in Ohio in the past six months, according to figures compiled by H. G. Southard, M. D., Director of the State Department of Health, 86 being reported in a single week. It might be interesting to note that in the entire republic of Cuba, with one city of 800,000 population, not a single case has been found. Four counties in the north-western part of the state are responsible for 42 per cent of the 1,420 cases. During the first 20 days of this month the four counties accounted for 56 per cent of cases reported, another county had 19 per cent of the total, the remaining 83 counties having less than 25 per cent of the total.

The early closing events of the Ohio State Fair to be held in the Capital City, August 31 to Sept. 5, will bring some of the noted speed kings of the country to the local track. The entries close May 1st, and Secretary of State Clarence J. Brown will present silver loving cup to the winner of the open trot for two year olds owned in Ohio when nominated and raced on Tuesday, September 1st, the purse being $1,500.

Hiram Rogers Won Damage Suit Friday

A jury in Common Pleas Court on Friday returned a verdict for $10,000, the amount asked for by Hiram Rogers, against Mrs. Maude Warner, on the claim that defendant has sustained permanent injuries as the result of an auto accident August 1, 1927. The defendant, who had filed a cross petition demanding damages of $10,020.76, was denied damages, the costs being assessed against Rogers.

Rogers charged that an automobile driven by Mrs. Warner's minor son, Daniel, also occupied by the defendant collided with his car at the intersection of the Federal and Jamestown-Cedarville pikes.

Speculation As To Fruit Tree Damage

How much damage did the snow, hail and freeze do to fruit Sunday night and the frost and freeze Monday night? This question was heard from all quarters the first of the week. After having decidedly warm weather for two or three weeks the sudden change brought a return to furnace heat. There is a very heavy bloom this year for cherry, pear and peach trees. The full extent of the freeze damage to fruit will not be known until the bloom sets fruit.

WIFE OF LATE WHITELAW REID DIED NEAR PARIS

Mrs. Elizabeth Mills Reid, widow of the late Whitelaw Reid, died Wednesday morning at 8:30, according to dispatches and a telegram received here from New York City, to Mr. William Conley, Mrs. Reid's local representative for many years.

Mrs. Reid had not been in good health and reports say she developed a cold on her voyage across. She was ill only ten days, having sailed two weeks ago, after arriving in New York, following a winter in California. A specialist was called from Paris by airplane. During her short stay in Paris, she visited the new building of the Herald-Tribune, where the Paris edition is published, she being one of the principal owners of that paper.

Mrs. Reid was the daughter of Darious Ogden Mills, financier, and she was 78 years old last January. She was married in 1881 and leaves two children, a daughter, Jean, wife of Sir John Ward, London, England, and a son, Ogden Mills Reid, publisher of the Herald-Tribune.

The Reid palatial home at White Plains, N. Y., is now occupied by the King and Queen of Siam, who are in this country for several months. Mrs. Reid was as well known in London and Paris as she was in New York. During the time her late husband served as ambassador to the Court of St. James and in the same capacity in Paris, she was a social favorite and did much entertaining on state occasions.

Mrs. Reid has only made occasional visits to Cedarville, and then in company with her husband, who found pleasure in returning during the later days his mother, "Aunt Marion" Reid lived. The Reids had planned to visit Cedarville and the old home just about the time of Mr. Reid's death in London, in 1912. Mr. Reid's death of course cancelled all arrangements. She was a frequent correspondent on business matters with Mr. Conley, who has had charge of the Reid estate for many years. She seemed to have as much interest in her husband's old home as though it were her own.

It had been hoped that Mrs. Reid could make Cedarville a visit in June in company with her son, Ogden Mills Reid, who has arranged a visit to the former home of his father. He is expected to be present at Miami University commencement where his father graduated. He will receive a degree at that time unless something unusual prevents his trip West.

No funeral arrangements have been announced at this time but it is expected the remains will be brought to New York, where her husband is buried at Tarrytown.

Time Is Nearing For Annual Town Clean-up

Now that nature is putting on her best it is also time to be thinking of the annual spring clean-up campaign. Some of these days warm weather will be here to stay and we must have the ashes, old tin cans and garbage cleaned up to protect health and also give the town a good name. A cleaning up order or request to citizens for such will soon be in order. Following that there should be an inspection trip to see that the request has been fully carried out.

MORE MONEY FOR STATE OFFICE BUILDING

According to the politicians the most important function of the state government is the completion of the new state office building to house a few hundred of the several thousand on the state pay roll. The tax paying public may be hungry and broke but continued spending is necessary and a special investigating committee from the Ohio Senate is delving into the situation.

A six million dollar building is under construction and the building commission provided no heating or electric light plant. The cry now is that the "depression" has cut off part of the estimated tax receipts and the legislature is asked for more funds. If some of the extra profit that went into the hands of real estate speculators who held options and some of the excess fee allowed the Cincinnati architect, the Georgia marble graft eliminated and Ohio sandstone used, there would be ample funds to complete the building. When it comes to an architect drawing nearly one third of a million dollars for plans of the proposed building, the Senate Committee should shut up shot and let the building commission complete the job as best they can. The whole proposition should be frowned upon by taxpayers. The building should be dedicated as "Cooper's Folly", a dream of Columbus and Cincinnati politicians.

This week the public gets a report from Gilbert H. Bettman, attorney general, showing how $330,000 has been saved in the purchase of the site which he says only cost $1,700,000. The attorney general is a clever politician and a product of the old Cincinnati gang, that usually knows just how to handle the public. We take Mr. Bettman's statement for what it says about the $330,000 saving to Ohio tax payers. We would rather hear from some of the former property owners as to what they actually received so that a check up could be made to know the profit the speculators and leaseholders made. Senator Nichols should continue to press his investigation that Ohioans would know the whole of the inside story in connection with the purchase of the site and the letting of the contract for marble at several hundred thousand over Ohio sandstone. When all the inside of the state office building affairs are made public then will it be time for probably another statement from Attorney General Bettman.

A HOT SHOT FIRED IN TAXATION MUDDLE

It was a shot on Fort Sumpter that brought on the Civil war but it created no more of a stir to the nation than a "shot" from George V. Sheridan, Executive Secretary of the Ohio Council of Retail Merchants, did when let loose a rapid firing gun before the Special Joint Legislative Tax Committee that is holding public hearings and authorized to draw up one or more tax laws to be submitted to the legislature on May 11.

The hearings have developed into a dialogue program for hearing special pleadings for certain interests seeking favors. When a representative of the Ohio Chamber of Commerce stated that Ohio public utility interests could not stand additional taxation, due to the depression, matters soon came to a head and it took the astute, level headed and far seeing Executive Secretary just a few minutes to stop proceedings and sound an alarm that carried a report loud enough to reach Fort Sumpter. Mr. Sheridan stated Ohio retail business men were willing to stand their share of the cost of state government and asked no special favors. He dignified his peppy talk with the statement if matters proceeded as they were there was sure to be a tax panic in 1932.

Since the Sheridan shell-fire things have cooled down and special interests may be devoting their time to under-cover work. The Ohio utility company have as much right to share the burden of state cost as the farmer, the banker or the retail merchant. Since the remark that favor should be shown utility interests there has been much comment about these companies now having two separate and distinct valuations, one for taxing purposes and the other for rate making. With some of the companies there is a difference of several million dollars between the two valuations. The farmer cannot have two valuations, neither can the manufacturer, banker or home owner.

RAILROAD MANAGEMENT BLUNDERS; TRUCKS GAIN

As scores of heavy laden trucks pass through here each day on regular schedule one cannot help but wonder what railroad management is thinking about. Regardless of the fact all railroads are operating under handicap due to business conditions, yet truck service seems to be on the increase, and most of it at the expense of the automobile public. The damage to highways from heavy trucks is considerable and the motor public is keeping up a right of way for their operation, their license fees being comparatively small for the revenue gained.

There is a reason for the growth of truck use and that is the extremely poor service offered by the railroad companies on all kind of freight shipments, unless it be in car lots. Even shipment of live stock to market by truck to points as far away as Pittsburgh is gaining and we are informed this is due to poor service. Locally the Pennsylvania erected the most modern shipping yards on this division. The improvement along this line is all shippers can ask but train service has not always been satisfactory. Live stock cannot be loaded in the morning and left standing until night time without a loss to the feeder. As a result some hogs are being trucked to distant points and the railroads are losing the business.

Not only is live stock being trucked but much of the merchandise received by local merchants comes by way of truck because former shipments have been two or three weeks in arriving when only a few years ago the railroads were able to deliver in that many days. It is evident railroad management is at fault and the shipping public has turned to the truck for the desired service. We noticed some figures on live stock shipping by truck to Cincinnati and Cleveland the past year. Thirty nine per cent of all stock received at Cincinnati and 29 per cent at Cleveland, these figures being quite a gain over the previous year. The railroads are suffering at the present time more from bad management than from anything else. If the shipping public cannot get reasonable rail service there is nothing else to do than use trucks. Locally our freight service cannot be compared with what we had twenty-five years ago.

King of Siam a Visitor

And Jesus, a Greater King
France Cheers for Hawks
The King Prajadhipok, of Siam is in America with his queen, charming couple and welcome. He, believed to be a direct descendant of Gautama, a known officially as "supreme arbiter of the ebb and flow of the tide." That is a heavy load of responsibility. His queen's title is "glorious lady of God." And she carries the magnificent name modestly and gracefully. Her name is Rambal, Barni, the king has no other wife. His grandfather had 600 wives, 134 sons and 236 daughters. That makes a good many descendants for Gautama, who left his father's palace when his first baby was born.

There are more followers of Gautama, known as Buddha, today than of any other religion, and all they ask is "Nirvana," which means an end to consciousness, eternal rest and seems rather a dull reward. Nirvana, it is said comes from the word "Nibbuta," meaning happy. Once as the young prince passed through a gateway a young girl called out "Nibbuta, Nibbuta." Gautama remembered that. Our wise young visitor, King Prajadhipok will attain Nirvana more rapidly than others, presumably on account of his ancestor, who will be anxious to see him. But he seems in no hurry about it, and comes here to consult American doctors and surgeons. May he find all that he seeks.

Sir James Jeans, British astronomer, physicist and mathematician, arrived in New York, bound for Mount Wilson, Calif. On May 20 he will be in Philadelphia to receive the Franklin medal, highest award for physical sciences in the United States. It is hoped the nation will indicate knowledge of the fact that Jeans is here, and be at least as much interested as it would be in the arrival of another giant man primo Carners, or somebody with a big title and a small brain.

The difference between Jeans and the average man is the difference between an eagle and a hen. The hen knows about her barnyard. The eagle knows many mountain ranges. The average citizen knows this little earth. He knows the universe. Every intelligent man should read his books, "The Mysterious Universe," "The Universe Around Us" and others. Lead those books and you will know something about the universe in which you and your solar system are like a grain of sand. Don't be like a rat in the bottom of a ship, not even knowing which way the ship is headed. Your sun is on its way to the blue blue star, Vega, and you are going with it.

France is shipping gold to the U. S. and our reserve bank is struggling to curb the gold influx. Shipping gold improves Europe's financial condition, raising the exchange value of the pound and the franc. Explain that if you can. It is like the old idea of feeding a man to cure his disease.

The Federal Reserve Bank of New York reduces its bill-buying rates to the lowest levels in history to stop the gold influx, forcing dealers in banks and industries to slash their rates and indicating a cut in rediscount rate. All this is pleasant for those who borrow money on call to do their speculating. It makes you wonder what "finance and the gold standard" really mean.

Friends in Europe are realizing that Americans can really fly. They learned when Lindbergh landed in Paris and again recently when Capt. F. M. Hawks decided to see what he could do about a flight from London to Rome. The record held by the British Wing Commander Kingsford-Smith was a little over twelve hours. Hawks flew the distance in less than half of that time, 5 hours and 20 minutes.

We decide to recognize the new government of Spain. Our ambassador at Madrid made a polite bow at the Spanish foreign office. Nobody knows how long the new republic will stand and nobody knew how long our republic would stand when we invited King George out of the country. The least it seems, that one republic can do is to recognize another and try to look happy about it.

Russians take a good many things seriously to which we pay comparatively little attention here. Some 99,610 have been expelled from the Bolshevik party, some because they are "immoral," others because they are friends of Trotsky. If you are cheating the government in Russia, they stand you up and shoot you down. If you commit murder, they send you to jail for ten years. In this country, if you cheat the government, you often go to Europe on a yatch. You always do if you cheat on a big enough scale.

WANTED: Sour Cream, Wolf's Dairy. For price, phone 194, Xenia.

There is an old saying that we frequently have to go away from home to find out just what have been about us. To know how others can take what we have regarded as common or worthless rock and with a little study form something new that has become a fad over the country is what we have in rock from this section for the much desired rock garden. Here is an idea that could be developed to make this community famous over the country in the way of rock flower gardens. Of course an ordinary rock or plenty of them can be used to start a garden but those who have studied the garden idea want a certain kind of rock as one would say, having a pedigree. Rocks should show age and be "tuffated," using a gardener's term.

The past two or three years hundreds of tons of such rock have been sold from the Taylor cliffs west of town. The community received much advertising at the recent flower show in Cincinnati when the first prize rock garden was built of Cedarville rock. Since then hundreds of people have visited the cliffs and almost daily great truck loads of stone are purchased by gardeners in neighboring and distant cities. Northern Ohio is noted for certain rock formations but Cleveland people as well as Cincinnati and Dayton prize the local rock as the best for outdoor gardens. One man with a palatial home had a rock garden built in his "solarium".

Several persons in this vicinity now have beautiful rock gardens but as yet none have specialized along the life of this art in town. Mrs. Will Cherry has an outstanding garden at her country home and Mrs. H. H. Cherry has an attractive garden at home, home which was formerly the home of her father, the late Andrew Jackson. Mrs. W. S. Hopping has also developed the idea along attractive lines. Town people have a precedent and should take more interest. With a municipal water system Cedarville could have as fine a lawn with shrubbery, flowers and the new creation, a rock garden.

Since Cedarville is receiving much publicity over the state as having one of the most modern and successful water softening plants we have been gathering some information that has been not only interesting but informative and we submit it will be to the causal reader. One of the returns of interest is that abilities that had formerly used hard water, now find it only takes about one half the former amount of soap that was used. This is of course a saving from the financial standpoint. The water also takes less soap than was used for cistern water, according to reports we get.

Probably few have even stopped to consider where other savings are possible. Soft water has greater dissolving properties than hard water according to chemists. It is claimed by lemonation it can be shown that the ordinary carrot can be cooked under quicker with soft water than hard water. In a demonstration it was found that the vegetable could be cooked in twelve minutes in soft water while it took twenty-two minutes for hard water. The same test also applies to potatoes, but the difference in time was not so great. In each case the heat units were the same. It is said that certain kinds of potatoes cooked in soft water will not discolor or turn dark. Another test was poaching eggs. By using soft water the white of the egg remained together while in hard water it had a tendency to spread over the surface.

Those who are using the municipal soft water have noticed and there is much favorable comment on how easy it is to keep all bathroom equipment clean, there being no ring or crust of soap about the side of the lavatory or the tub. Even cistern water leaves such a mark that requires effort on the part of the housewife or maid to keep everything looking good. These are only a few observations gathered among those who are perfectly satisfied with the municipal water and from sources where experiments have been conducted for scientific purposes.

Locally it was good news to know that the plant of the former Abel Magnesia Co. was to open this week. With business conditions as they have been it is naturally good news to all to have an industry revived that has been dormant for several months. It will still be better news when the hydrating and dolomite sections are to start. The former of course depends on buildings operations and the requirements for lime and the latter on operation of the steel mills, this being the only market for that product. It would be fine if the State Highway Department could see its way clear to rebuild the Springfield pike with macadam and use the stone from the local quarry. Many men in this locality could be given employment and there is enough road in this county built of this rock and under heavy use each day to prove its durability qualities. There has always been much stress laid in using native materials and we believe the state should adopt macadam for this locality.

Butter was quoted wholesale this week at twenty-four cents a pound, the lowest in twenty years, according to reports. Meantime else drops to around ten cents a pound for some of the brands. Also being a by-product from fertilizer plants to soap factories with some vegetable oil, it will always be a competitor of better as long as some people want it. The very unusual thing is that so many farmers have taken up the oleo habit, the very thing that helps keep the price of all butter down. The farmer that would rather have his "butter" from soap factory oils has no complaint about "farm relief". At a recent demonstration two rats were caged, both being weighed previously. One had a butter diet for a month and the other an oleo menu for the same time. The rat that had butter grew fat and had a fine pelt, the oleo victim lost weight and showed the effect of being denied a food value.

Lesson for May 3

JESUS IN THE HOME OF ZACCHAEUS

LESSON TEXT.—Luke 19:1-10.
GOLDEN TEXT.—For the Son of Man is come to seek and to save that which was lost.
PRIMARY TOPIC.—Jesus Makes a Bad Man Good.
JUNIOR TOPIC.—Jesus Makes Zacchaeus Want to Do Right.
INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC.—Beginning a New Life.
YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC.—Repentance and Restoration.

1. Jesus Passing Through Jericho (v. 1).
Jericho is noted as a stronghold of the Canaanites which was miraculously delivered into the hands of Israel in response to their faith, Joshua 6, and also for the faith of Rahab which saved her from destruction with the city Ehek (11:31). Two notorious sinners, Rahab and Zacchaeus, were saved at Jericho.

11. Zacchaeus Seeking Jesus (vv. 2-4).
1. His object (v. 3).
He sought to see who Jesus was. He doubtless had heard of Jesus' kind treatment of publicans, so was prompted to see what kind of a man he was.

2. His difficulties (vv. 2, 3).
(1) His infamous business (v. 2).
He was a tax collector of the Roman government. The very fact that a Jew held such an office under the hated Romans would make him extremely unpopular. Then, since he was rich, it was evident that he had practiced extortion in collecting taxes. By virtue of his traitorous act in accepting such an office from the Romans and his extortion in collecting taxes, he was ostracized from society. Many men have a hard time in coming Christ because of their unpopular business relations.

(2) His shortness of stature (v. 3).
He was too small to crowd his way through to Jesus, and being hated by the people, they had thrust him aside, no doubt, with taunts and jeers.

3. His persistence (v. 4).
He ran before the multitude and climbed up into a tree. What he lacked in stature he was determined should be made up by the height of the tree. Zacchaeus seems to have been of that temperament which knows no defeat. The obstacles placed before him he brushed aside; those he could not brush aside he climbed over, his heart set upon the goal.

111. Jesus Finding Zacchaeus (vv. 5, 6).
While Zacchaeus was trying to see Jesus, Jesus was looking for him. This is always the case, when desire is stirred up in a heart to see Jesus, Jesus is seeking that one. When Jesus saw him he commanded him to come down from the tree and declared his intention to go home with him. Jesus called him by name, but did not utter a word which would humiliate Zacchaeus. Jesus knew his heart's desire and dealt with him accordingly. All souls who earnestly seek Jesus shall be found of him. Zacchaeus quickly responded. He came down, and with joy received Jesus. He acted wisely in that he did not hesitate. A moment's indecision and waiting would have kept Zacchaeus from Jesus—from Jesus and salvation.

111. Zacchaeus' Conversion (vv. 7-10).
His conversion was sudden and thorough. He was converted before he reached the ground.

1. What the crowd said (v. 7).
They said just what they say today when sinners come to Christ. They call to mind the man's former sins. They also reproached Christ saying that he had gone to be a guest with this notorious extortioner, the tax collector. That for which they reproached Jesus was his glory. His supreme mission was to save sinners (v. 10).

2. What Zacchaeus said (v. 8).
His conversion was thorough. It took hold upon his heart. His new life was begun with resolution and dedication. He dedicated himself of his goods to the poor. The man who a little while ago was a grifter was now a generous giver. His conversion got hold of his pocketbook. His determination to make restitution wherein he had wrongly exacted taxes shows the genuineness of his conversion. While God forgets the past of the sinner when he comes to Christ, the sinner who is converted will seek to make right all wrongs, be they unkind words or unrighteous deeds. Repentance for sin is not enough when restitution is possible.

3. What Jesus said (vv. 9, 10).
"Today is salvation come to thy house." The publican came now a child of God, a son of Abraham. Salvation is a present reality to those who receive Jesus Christ.

Fast Largely Mythical

Those who compare the age in which their lot has fallen with a golden age which exists only in imagination, may talk of degeneracy and decay; but no man who is correctly informed as to the past will be disposed to take a morose or desponding view of the present.—Thomas Babington, Lord Macaulay (1800-1859), "History of England."

demolishing the top completely. Mr.
Watt was not injured other than a few bruises.

THE RADIO INDUSTRY

THE report of the radio division of the United States Department of Commerce for 1929 states that there are 10,000,000 homes in this country equipped with radio receiving sets.
The United States census report for 1929 estimates a population for this country of 120,000,000, or the equivalent of 30,000,000 families, estimating four persons to the family. This would mean that one-fourth of the homes in the United States have receiving sets. If all these sets were in use at the same time, and all the members of the families were listening in, the audience would reach the astonishing figure of 40,000,000 persons.

The rapid development of the radio industry is also noted in this annual report. In 1929 there were in use only 75,000 sets with an estimated audience of 75,000.
The economic value of the radio industry is at once apparent when we realize that in one year (1929) "the sale of radios and accessories totaled $350,000,000." The exports in a single year (1929) increased from about $4,000,000 to $11,000,000. The future of this economic development is very large, for aside from possible increase in the exports, there are still 20,000, 000 homes without radio sets.

The educational and entertaining advantages of radio are so very commonplace that the danger is they are not as much appreciated as in former years. We take them as a matter of course. But when the voices of men in other countries can be distinctly heard in our American homes, it makes us pause and wonder what the next feature will be that will bind the world close together.

Distance no longer separates nations any more than it separates individuals. Only differences of opinion, separate nations today. The radio is destined to play no small part in solving the great social problems which face every nation in the world.
How are we going to live together?
